On February 16, 2016 Dena Moore attended with zeal in her heart and passion fleeing from her throat the following: "I'm doing this because I don't like bullies," Dena Moore says, explaining why she— as one of the American Disney workers who was laid off and forced to train her low-wage H-1B foreign replacement— is now launching a discrimination lawsuit against the corporation.

"You can't let a bully continue to be the bully. Someone had to say: 'Slavery isn't right, I think I'll stand up against it.' Someone had to say: 'We shouldn't [mistreat] our women. I think I'll stand up.' Someone had to stand up. That's what I'm hoping that my work is doing. There's a lot of people who are just afraid," Moore tells Breitbart in an exclusive telephone interview.

Let cut to the chase and bring on Dena Moore and Brietbart on the scene!

THE QUESTION IS WILL TRUMP FIRE THE BULLY DISGUISED AS A MOUSE?

Loyal American Dena Moore: "I'm doing this because I don't like bullies," Sara Blackwell on the scene, gentle grand mother of four children and 13 grand children now launching a discrimination lawsuit against the Disney Pig Faced Executives. "Trump is standing up to the bullies."

"The American people are now the weak ones being bullied," Moore explains. "The everyday working person needs a champion— and you'd never think to say that. Who would ever think a day would come when we would have to say that? But the middle class needs a champion— we need a union that will protect us— and Donald Trump is that champion. He is champion who stands up to the bullies to protect the weak, he stands up for us— he stands up."

"When you stand up to the bullies you have to stay strong," Moore explained. "You're not always going to be well-liked, and it takes you a little while to be heard. Maybe you'll make mistakes, but you have to get past the media's 'let me pick you apart' stage and recognize that this person is standing up to the bullies."

"I will be voting for Trump," Moore said emphatically. "If we don't want to become the next third world country— to me— we need somebody whose a business man to run the country."

"Moore, at 53 is a mother of four and grandmother of 13. She had been working for Disney just shy of ten years, when out of the blue she was called into a meeting and informed that she along with hundreds of her American colleagues were being let go and would be replaced with foreign workers, whom they would have to train. These foreign workers had been brought into the country on the controversial wage-depressing H-1B visa."

"Moore's Senator, Marco Rubio, has pushed to expand H-1B visas despite the fact that scores of his own constituents had just been displaced by the program."

Dena Moore Rocks the Bama House Down!

Computerworld News Flash: Disney Canned Workers Speak - People Listen - They Do Not Like What They Hear. Dena Moore Rocks the House Down!

I QUOTE THE ENTIRE ARTICLE:

“Two former Disney IT workers spoke at a Donald Trump campaign rally on Sunday, telling about the shock of having to train their foreign replacements.”

“It's hard to recall any presidential campaign, in any year, that has given IT workers this type of visibility. But Trump, the businessman now seeking the Republican nomination, has made H-1B reforms a part of his platform.”

“Speaking at the large rally in Madison, Ala. was Dena Moore, a former Disney IT worker who trained her foreign replacement. Around 200 to 300 other Disney IT workers lost their jobs as part of an IT outsourcing shift.”

"Moore warned that Disney's action is a bad signal. "Other companies look up to them and they follow and model their behavior," she said."

"IT workers are generally reluctant to take a public stand on visa policy issues. They worry about hurting future IT job prospects. Non-disparagement clauses in severance agreements also limit their involvement. Moore noted the problem."

"IT workers "are afraid, they're in shock," she told the cheering crowd. "They're not coming forward because we have been taught all our lives to make do and keep going on. But you know what? This little old grandma is going to stand up for what's right."

"The fact is that Americans are losing their jobs to foreigners," said Moore. "I believe Mr. Trump is for Americans first."

"U.S. Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-Ala.) appeared as well at the rally, and endorsed Trump for the GOP nomination. Sessions is a leading Senate H-1B reformer."

"Also appearing with Moore was Leo Perrero, who testified last week on the H-1B visa program before the Senate Subcommittee on Immigration. Both Perrero and Moore are suing Disney and the IT contractors it hired and were joined at the rally by their attorney, Sara Blackwell. She blamed "corporate greed" for IT offshoring."

"The rally was held in advance of this week's Super Tuesday primary voting in a number of states, including Alabama."

"Most of the ire from Trump was directed at rival Sen. Marco Rubio (R-Fla.), who supports efforts to raise the H-1B cap. "What a great disappointment Marco Rubio is," said Moore."

But the Trump Bump for IT Workers Flopped at the Next Debate Then the Donald Tried to Give His IT Mojo Back to Dena and the IT Community

COMPUTER WORLD DEBATE REPORT: H-1B Debate Discussion Reaches Historic High - Trump Gets his H-1B Mojo Back - Rare Trump Confession and Mea Culpa "I frankly use and I shouldn't be allowed to use -- we shouldn't have it," said Trump. Trump Embraces Disney Workers while the Democrats watch the Movie Clueless with Marco.

I QUOTE NOTABLE PARAGRAPHS FROM COMPUTER WORLD:

"In Florida Thursday night, Republican presidential candidates took on the H-1B visa program in a way they have never done before. They said the program is being abused, needs reform and GOP frontrunner Donald Trump, in particular, seemed to recommend ending it."

"The attention is due to the layoff last year of Disney IT workers, most who were working in Orlando. Some of those workers had to train visa-holding replacements. Disney laid off between 200 to 300 IT workers after bringing in IT contractors that are heavy users of the visa."

"Sen. Marco Rubio (R-Fla.), who has supported an H-1B cap increase, and has said little about the visa-related IT layoffs at Disney or any other place, offered an extended critique of the H-1B program."

"Rubio faulted, in particular, the use of visas by large IT services companies, pointing to firms based in India, in particular. He said H-1B program abuses take jobs from U.S. workers."

"When it was his turn to talk about the visa, Trump, the billionaire businessman, began with an admission. "First of all, I know the H-1B very well, and it's something that I frankly use and I shouldn't be allowed to use -- we shouldn't have it," said Trump. He explained himself by saying the visa is available to use and "I'm a businessman."

"The frontrunner has sent out confusing signals about the H-1B program."

"At last week's debate, Trump said he was "softening" his position on the visa. But immediately following the debate, he issued a statement saying that his remarks were about immigration, and not the non-immigrant H-1B visa."

"In that post-debate statement at the time, Trump said: "I will end forever the use of the H-1B as a cheap labor program, and institute an absolute requirement to hire American workers first for every visa and immigration program."

"Last night, Trump seemed more focused, certain -- even radical. He talked about ending the visa. "It's very bad for our workers and it's unfair for workers and we should end it," said Trump."

"Very importantly, the Disney workers endorsed me," said Trump. "They said he is the only one that's going to be able to fix it, because it's a mess."

"The Democrats, by contrast, have had little to say about the controversial program."

"Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.), who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, is a critic of the visa program, and joined a bipartisan group of 10 senators last year seeking an investigation into its use after IT layoffs at Southern California Edison."

"But former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton doesn't raise the H-1B visa as an issue. In debates, both Sanders and Clinton have kept the focus on comprehensive immigration reform."

At a recent Trump rally, one former Disney IT worker who took the stage, Dena Moore, said she trained a visa-holding replacement and was critical of Rubio. "What a great disappointment Marco Rubio is," she said.

At Thursday's debate, Washington Times reporter Stephen Dinan asked Rubio about Disney, and said that "some of the Americans even had to train their own replacements."

"You support increasing the H-1B visa program that made it possible to bring in these foreign workers. Doesn't this program take jobs away from Americans?" asked Dinan.

"If it's being abused the way Disney did," said Rubio. "It is illegal now under that program to use it to replace American workers. Under that program, you have to prove not only that you're not replacing Americans, but that you've tried to hire Americans."

Rubio, in the debate, acknowledged the problem with contractors, citing India-based firms, in particular.

"What I argue is that no consulting business such as that should be allowed to hoard up all these visas," said Rubio, adding that visas "should only be available for companies to use to directly hire workers and that we should be stricter in how we enforce it."

I QUOTE NOTABLE PARAGRAPHS FROM COMPUTER WORLD:

The H-1B and Out Sourcing is a SLAM DUNK ISSUE - He who taps it will win. Trump screwed up big time in the last debate. Now Trump is back on track. Marco is too little too late. Rubio has been BRAIN DEAD for so long, emergency WATER infusion will do NO GOOD. The Democrats are lost in the wilderness, cannot not see the forest, cannot see the trees. Clinton still living in the 90's and Bernie is allowing Trump to eat his lunch.
